UniSAFE
ENDING GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE

UniSAFE's toolkit to address gender-based violence in higher education institutions and research organisations

UniSAFE is an EU-funded project addressing gender-based violence and institutional responses in academia and research. The project has collected empirical evidence of the prevalence of gender-based violence and studied how this relates to its determinants and consequences, before developing concrete policy recommendations, tailored tools and capacity-building activities and trainings. The UniSAFE project has released a toolkit that supports higher education institutions and research organisations in designing and improving institutional policies that tackle gender-based violence.
